

SIT725 TASK 1.3P

DESIGN YOUR SERVICE

Expert in cross platform mobile solutions as a React Native EXPO developer, I aim to gain recognition for creating seamless, high-performance mobile applications that addresses real world challenges across both iOS and android platforms. My main focus will be on creating scalable user centric apps that connect complex backend systems with intuitive mobile interactions.

These are some of my portfolio website will highlight to showcase my work:

- Interactive showcases of my published mobile applications.
- Client feedback and success stories from notable app launches.
- An interactive app builder tool that allows the users to customise and view a sample application.

Here are some services I will provide as an app developer:

- Tailored mobile app development for start-ups and Initial Enterprises for low cost.
- Services for performance enhancement and debugging.
- Integration with API's, Databases, and third-party services.

Here is my unique advantage. I will concentrate on applications that utilise device functionalities like cameras, GPS, push notifications while ensuring native level performance. My emphasis will be on solutions in FinTech, healthcare, Education technology, and E-commerce, Where reliability and user experience are very crucial nowadays. By showcasing both technical expertise and business value, I will establish myself as a preferred developer for organisations in search of efficient and cost efficient mobile solutions